Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

No one knows, though some military men may surmise, which way the cat will jump, meaning Hitler. At the moment of writing France, very groggy, is still in the ring putting up a dogged and costly fight. However, Marshall Petain (and premier) has asked for an honorable peace. No one believes that either Hitler or Mussolini knows or respects the word "honorable." Germany during the years since World War No. 1 has shreiked in anguish at the terms of the Versaille treaty. But now that its Germany's turn to dictate terms, we may be very sure they will be a thousand times more onerous than those imposed at Versailles in 1918. In view of this prospect France may decide that death is better. And if it does so decide it may be enough that is, win enough time, to tip the scales.

By assuming, honorable terms or not, that France surrenders or is ground into the grave by German might, what then? There is still Great Britain to whip at a terrific cost to German forces, and it may not be possible to do it. The old lion has grown a bit sluggish over 10 centuries, but he is still a stubborn and uncompromising adversary with a brood of cubs scattered around the world who have a way of hard fighting when the motherland is in jeopardy.

But even assuming that at last the swastika flies over the Houses of Parliament on the Thames, what then? But before answering that we must assume, too, that somehow German will find food and other materials for continuing war. Where then would Germany turn in its drive for world dominion?

In Washington there is a great dither about what may happen to South and Central America, in event German arms finally subdue the British. But our guess is that Hitler would organize Europe and the Near East before trying to cross the Atlantic. The vast resources of Russia would tempt him first. There is a people made to order for German domination, slaves under the Czars and slaves under their communist dictator. What the helots were to the patrician Greeks, the Russians could be to Prussian masters. There is a country whose potentialities in metals, gold, oil, wheat and cattle would seem to be almost equal to those of South America. Made to order for a world shaker like Hitler. That he has pledged himself in a non-aggression pact with Stalin would not cause him even to hesitate. The Germans for many centuries have preferred land fighting to roving the sea as the English have. Russia is a "natural" for German expansion. And years ago Hitler remarked this fact in "Mein Kampf."

Already, according to some authorities, a million Poles are giving forced labor to Germany. From a slave owning standpoint the Russians would be even more satisfactory. The Germans, unless England holds out so long that famine breaks them, are on their way to realizing the Prussian dream, to become a soldier race, equipped with intelligence, all the resources of science, and unusual ability for organization, co-ordination and an inordinate pride of race. All this without the slightest trace of civilized ideals or Christian concepts. The impact of such people upon Russia would be that of a hot knife slicing butter. As some one remarked, if Hitler, having "pacified" all Western and Scandinavian nations, finds himself with an idle army, it is a fair assumption that he would give his generals about 48 hours to take Moscow and they would do it.

For these reasns we do not believe that, assuming both France and England are defeated, Hitler will pay much attention to South America when the wealth that he seeks lies next door and is his for the taking. If our assumptions prove correct, as regards France and England we are still far from convinced that they will prove so, it will probably be some years be-

CAMPTONVILLE'S OLD TIME STAGE DRIVER PASSES

CAMPTONVILLE, June 20.—Julius E. Pauly, well known resident passed away Wednesday morning at the Landis Clinic at Grass Valley following an illness of two weeks. Although it was known that he had not been well, his passing was a distinct shock to his many relatives and friends.

Julius Elisha Pauly was born at Nelson Point, sixty six years ago of a well known pioneer family. He spent his childhood days at that place where his father conducted a general store, which business he later operated for a period of years.

He was one of the few remaining old time stage operators, he and his brother having spent many years in operating mail routes. For many years he operated the Camptonville-Marysville line, the Marysville-La Porte, and Marysville-Downieville, at first when such stage lines were horse drawn, and later when they became motorized.

As a stage driver he became widely known through this part of the state. He was of a generous nature, kind, and accommodating, a trait characteristic of the early day stage drivers.

He was a public spirited citizen, and took a prominent part in all the affairs of the community. He served a term on the board of supervisors of Plumas county, served on the board of trustees of the Camptonville Union School District, and was a member of the grand jury of Yuba county several times.

He was a member and Past Master of Gravel Range Lodge No. 59 F & A M, a member of the Scottish Rite Masonry of Sacramento, and a member of Ben Ali Temple of the Mystic Shrine of Sacramento.

He is survived by an aged mother, Mrs. Katherine Pauly, of Quincy, wife, Grace Pauly, a daughter, Miss Katherine Pauly, four sons, Erle, Myron, Warren and Leland, two brothers, Oscar N. Pauly, of Oroville, and Ben Pauly, of Quincy and a sister Mrs. J O. Moncur, of Quincy, and a number of other relatives.

CONFUSION IN FRANCE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—The refugee situation in Bordeaux, France, yesterday became one of wildest confusion, according to a cable today from John Maloney, one of the American Red Cross representatives in that French port.

"Bordeaux and region faced an amost insoluble problem with refugees continuously incoming, despite attempts of military authorities to stem the inflow," Maloney cabled. "The city, already overcrowded with 150,000 homeless refugees faced the possibility that the influx would reach 300,000. Re-evacuation to other points is hampered by lack of trucks and railway equipment. The French also are refugeeing from the departments along the Italian border and the Riviera.

"Bordeaux railroad stations today duplicate Paris scenes of four weeks ago, with 25,000 refugees passing daily, taxing the inadequate feeding and first aid facilities. Families are sleeping in the parks and the fields. Mothers and young babies are the greatest sufferers. Ten infants were born on refugee train coming into Bordeaux yesterday. Our American Red Cross warehouse and officers are providing nightly shelter for the Americans waiting steamships."

FROM MARSHALL PETAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—The following letter, dated May 24, was received today by the American Red Cross from Marshall Petain:

"I have never forgotten the immense service rendered by the American Red Cross during the war of 1914-1918.

"Now, moved by the misfortune which has fallen on us, the Red Cross intends to take up the same task again. You plan once more to try to spare us the sufferings imposed upon us, or at least to make them less cruel. Your effort fills me with admiration and gratitude.

"Thanks to Germany, the world is menaced with a great cataclysm.

"Most of Europe is made up of small states incapable of defending themselves adequately. Germany exploits this situation by attacking them one after another and reducing them to slavery. If the German will

LIBERTY, THEME OF ROTARY CLUB

The Rev. H. Thomas Pateman, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, was the speaker yesterday at luncheon of the Rotary club in the National Hotel. His topic was "Liberty and the Bible."

H. F. Sofge announced that Nevada City was going to have a fine celebration on the Third and Fourth of July. Congratulations were offered in the name of the club by President Clyde Gwin to Carroll Coughlan, a member, who was recently married. The Rev. Pateman announced that a card party would be held for the benefit of Trinity church in the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Parsons.

"Liberty is an imperishable part of our heritage," declared the Rev. Pateman. "Liberty is the fruit of centuries of struggle. It is now challenged again and destroyed in places where it has long been taken for granted.

"Lenin said: 'Liberty is precious, so precious, we must ration it out, just giving so much liberty here and so much there.'

"Mussolini said: 'Liberty is dead and its body already stinks.'

"Liberty has been either rationed out in Europe or has been killed entirely. This recent shutdown upon liberty, has given us all much worry of late. It has all come so suddenly that it has taken us unawares.

In the 17th century John Locke wrote a treatise upon liberty, upon human freedom. No treatise of importance has been written since, chiefly because since that time, liberty has not been so much threatened.

"But there will be written many within the next decade or two, the time demands it.

History tells us that during the early days of the Roman Emperors, the people had no choice for example, in freedom of worship. The people either bowed before the symbols of the Emperor, or the Emperor, and worshipped him, or they died for failing to do so. It was with the coming of the Christ and the influence of His followers that freedom of worship came to exist in the Roman empire. Gradually through His presentation of ethics, and morals and common sense, practical living in social freedom came to men in worship, in thought and in action.

Today wherever a dictator rules we are reminded of the possibility of a return to emperor worship or as we can call it today, dictatorworship. Over a period of years this could well be enforced.

One of the striking things today in the world crisis of liberty is that the people holding out for it are being inspired by the Bible — the book which records in its Old Ttestament the long years of struggle of a people for freedom, and in its New Testament the coming of liberty in worship and in living together.

In times of crisis and revolution men read this history to see how men before them approached similar problems threatening their freedom.

"When Einstein came to America some years ago, an exile from his native country, he said, that, when National Socialism came into Germany and began to challenge the traditional liberties of the country, he felt certain that the standard of revolt would be unfurled within the German Universities. He said that his surprise came when he discovered that the challenge to the taking away of liberty came in Germany with resolution and courage only from the staunch members of the Christian Church—a community, a group of men to whom he had until that time given little attention, the handful of sincere Christoans who took their Bible seriously. It was men like Martin Niemoller whom the military leaders feared and whom they either had to imprison or send out of the country into exile. That is why Germany forced the clergy out of the nation so that Hitler and his followers would be able to fashion the people to their own mold of worshipping the state and its leaders.

"The book we call the Bible is the pioneer of liberty. It has liberated the minds that have studied it. Its

DELBERT FULLER CONVICTED ON FELONY COUNTS

After deliberating one hour and twenty five minutes, a jury of six women and six men in the superior court here yesterday afternoon found Delbert Fuller of Nevada City guilty on two counts of driving while intoxicated.

Fuller will be sentenced by Superior Judge George L. Jones at 10 o'clock Monday morning. On Tuesday he will go on trial along with Walter Barnes on a charge of felonious assault.

The two men are accused of beating up Special Deputy Eugene Blake, son of Captain Joseph Blake of the California Highway Patrol, while he was guarding them following Fuller's arrest on the drunken driving charge. Barnes and his wife were riding in the car operated by Fuller.

Among the witnesses testifying against Fuller at his trial on the drunken driving charge were Dean Schroyer and Darrell Malcolm, Nevada City newsboys, who were seriously injured when struck by the car operated by the defendant prior to his apprehension by officers, on April 20 near Glenbrook.

Other witnesses for the prosecution were Captain Blake, Mr. and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cox, Frank Brown, witnesses to the accident; Game Warden Earl Hiscox and Deputy Sheriffs Carl Larsen and Eugene Johnson, who testified Fuller was intoxicated.

Fuller in testifying in his own behalf denied he had been drinking prior to the accident. Fuller was the only defense witness. His testimony was short, consisting principally in denying statements by the prosecution witnesses regarding his sobriety and manner of driving.

The jurors selected to hear the Fuller case, which opened before Judge Jones on Wednesday were Edwin W. Norton, Bernice Glasson, Wayne Covington, Virginia M. Pease, Owen Samora, Frank Escher, Lulu Clapp, Lola Carkeet, William Treglown, Viola Merrifield, William Tamblyn and Beryl Robinson.

The prosecution was conducted by District Attorney Vernon Stoll and Deputy John LaRue. Frank Finnegan, appointed by the court, represented the defendant.

INDEPENDENCE CELEBRATION IS GIVEN IMPETUS

Plans for Nevada City's mammoth two day Fourth of July celebration were tenatively outlined at a meeting last night of the Chamber of Commerce committee arranging for the fete.

The meeting was presided over by George Gildersleeve, general chairman of the celebration committee.

The tentative program, which is expected to meet with universal approval, includes a torchlight parade street singing and dancing for the evening of the 3rd. The Fourth events will open with a huge parade at 10 o'clock in the morning. Patriotic exercises will be held in the afternoon. The afternoon program also includes a wide variety of entertainment features, including a rock drilling contest—Nevada County vs. Amador County. The literary exercises are being arranged by Superior Judge George L. Jones.

There will be entertainment galore for even the most fickle during the two day celebration. Arrangements are being made for the appearance here of a high class rodeo. The concession features will provide many hours of entertainment for the fun-

Working forces in the Lava Cap and Zeibright mines were increased during the past month. In the Lava Cap 340 men are now empoyed and in the Zeibright 100 men are at work. Men employed by mine operators in the county this month numbers 2,494, and approaches the peak of 1938. The monthly payroll now amounts to $374,100.

The crosscut in the Murchie mine, which started at the 400 level at the mine shaft is now 4,500 feet long. It is expected to complete the cross cut early in September. The total length as projected when the cross cut started will be 6,000 feet. In the course of the work a number of stringers have been cut and some of these will be explored after work on the cross cut is completed. It is stated that none of these show any great promise either in gold content of extent. However, it is the view of some engineers, that the last 1,500 feet to be traversed is likely to prove the most interesting.

The following reports have been received from managers of active mines:

GIANT KING MINE

Tullie Massie is in charge of the Giant King mine near Washington. Operations have been somewhat curtailed by the burning of the big mill. The plans call for active operations as soon as the insurance claims are settled.

LAVA CAP MINE

Diamond drilling is being done at the Lava Cap mine southeast of Nevada City in order to save cross cutting. The drill is now in 1000 feet and plans are to go to 2500 feet to test ore bodies. Sinking has been completed to the thirteenth and the fourteenth levels in the Central shaft. Ten men have been added since last month due partly to raising the tailings plant dam. The company now employs 340 men.

SUMMART DREDGING COMPANY

The Summart Dredging Company of Oroville have a two years supply of gold bearing gravel in a ravine below the Blue Point gravel mine near Smartville. The company has a dragline dredge in operation. W. F. Baxter is manager.

Congress Must Stick

Republicans in the Senate and House of Representatives have voted unanimously against the adjournment of Congress in the present crisis. By so doing they have clearly evidenced their sense of responsibility to those who elected them to office and a high degree of duty and patriotism.

They have shown that neither the approaching political conventions nor the heat of a Washington summer outweigh as considerations the gravity of the existing situation and the need for Congressional control over national policies and the taking of precipitate action in whatever contingencies the country may face.

Only a week or so ago the President appealed for "team work" between himself and the Congress. Now he has ordered one horse of the team to the stable. He has told the New Deal Congressional leaders to bring about adjournment before the end of June hoping to gain a free hand to use his almost unlimited emergency powers as he, and he alone, sees fit, and incidentally to obtain such political advantage as may be had by getting rid of what to the President is only troublesome interference.

Members of Congress who desert their posts at such a time merely to bow to the will of the Executive will not be regarded by the American people, other than as false to the trust imposed on them and will, without question, be held to strict accountability, especially if such action should lead the Nation into fresh dangers and difficulties.

Few persons besides those who have made special study of the facts realize how far-reaching is the authority now held by the President. In the first month of the Roosevelt administration, Congress began delegating emergency powers to the Executive. Not one of them has ever been relinquished.

The present situation brings to life powers that can be exercised in time of war or when war is imminent. Last September the President proclaimed a national emergency under which his authority was vastly augmented.

Under the Emergency Banking Act, the Securities and Exchange Act and the Federal Communications Act, he can, in the emergency of his own declaration, rule credit and international transactions, close stock exchanges and control radio stations, telegraph and telephone communication.

He can now commandeer factories and turn them into munitions plants, taking over whatever power plants may be needed for their operation. He can requisition any American vessel and force railroads to give preference to government shipments.

Presidential powers are not only virtually unlimited. there is no official listing of them. While Justice Murphy of the Supreme Court was still Attorney General, Senator Vandenberg asked for a complete record of emergency powers held by the Chief Executive.

The Attorney General forwarded a list of 100 acts giving the President specific and general authority, but he warned that it was not complete, as indirect powers were given by other laws too numerous to investigate at that time.

Of the powers the President does not possess there remains only the authority to declare war and today wars are not declared. If war comes to this side of the Atlantic it may not be on the declaration or initiation of the United States.

It is plain that in matters of policy, decision upon a thousand steps short of actual war, the President is undisputed arbiter.

Congress must stay on the job—Contributed.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder how the candidates
Can gain the public's rapt attention
And with his perorations claim
The voter's wavering attention;
The wide world turns to thoughts of war,
And mid the universal din,
The office seeker's little voice
Seems quite grotesquely weak and thin.

I wonder if there has ever been a time in America, when the general election with all its hue and cry, seemed so uninteresting and non-important as it does at the present moment.

With the world enveloped in flames, shocked by the arocities of monsters in human form, threatened with the fall of civilization and the destruction of all worthy ideals of liberty—the American circus with which we are regaled every four years, has grown strangely tame and lacking in inspirational urge.

I wonder if this state of mind is not in a measure regretable; after all, the two party system is ours to cherish and its motives, proposed changes in government and general trend, deserve most careful consideration and intelligent understanding from the voting public.

Perhaps the two great conventions now at hand and the elections which will follow, are of more vital importance now than at any time in our entire history. Let no voter become careless at a time like this. America's domestic affairs are of great importance to America and upon their proper conduct depend the sanity of our international relations. The ballot is to each individual a weapon of defense. Now is the time for every citizen to vote with all the wisdom at his command.

I wonder if it is quite fair to penalize a little child for obeying the mandates of ignorantly fanatical parents; this subject is of course debatable still, enforced respect for the flag and for the principles which is represents, does not touch the heart of a misguided child.

In cases where children refuse to salute the flag, we recognize and condemn the home influence; but could wise and patient teachers neutralize this influence? Do all the little ones in groups assembled, who so obediently pay tribute to Old Glory, know what it is all about? I'd like to make an experiment. I would like to go into a school room or yard at flag raising time and say, "every child who knows just what the Stars and Stripes stand for—what our flag symbolizes and why we should revere it—salute!"

I venture to assert that many little Jerrys and Nellies from fine American homes—would simply stand and stare.

And I would like to ask those fanatical cultists who refuse to honor the flag under whose folds they enjoy the boon of liberty, if they have ever considered the biblical injunction, "render unto Caesar those things which are Caesar's and unto God those things which are God's."

Uncle Silas says: "Since Garibaldi started this shirt fad, way back when—that modest garment has gained popularity by flips and flaps. Now we have brown shirts, black shirts, blue shirts, silver shirts and—most distracting of all, the shirt of Japan's exalted ruler—worn but once and then sold to a faithful subject, who treasures it as a venerated souvenir—Sacred Shirts! THINKING OUT LOUD fore we collide with Germany over the Monroe doctrine.

In the meantime everyone who thinks seriously of the future should know that we must arm to the teeth, especially upon the sea and in the air. Late though the hour is, every American must now feel the dire necessity of arming against the day when Germany undertakes dominion of the Western hemisphere. And as long as England stands, with or without France, we should send ship loads of all war essentials in a continuous procession across the Atlantic, like a vast bucket brigade doing our utmost to save the island that once was our home. If need be we should convoy those ships ourselves rather than force Britain to use elements of her navy, which presently will be needed as ramparts against the onslaught of the Hun.

In all likelihood, if and when the clash with Germany comes, we shall also be attacked by the hungry little brown men of Japan, which in the Pacific is prepared to play the same jackal role as Italy plays in the Mediterranean. So the proposal to create a two-ocean fleet is one of common prudence.

For the man, whom Wendell Wilkie calls the American appeaser, President Roosevelt, thoughtful citizens will recall that while he knew Europe was preparing for this dreadful orgy he appeased the communists, the Townsendites, the Negroes, the farmers, and having created a vast army of federal beneficiaries, embarked on a course of appeasing them in their growing demands for bigger and better handouts. He did not until this year take a single step to prepare this country against the event of war, though informed as few other men of the conditions in Europe. His great leadership was devoted to experiments in social, economic and political phases of our national life. These experiments have impoverished and crippled a great people, and now like a newly discovered rabbit in the silk topper he produces the need for national defense, and here at last is an imperative need that must be satisfied even though we face it with all the New Deal handicaps.

study burst open the doors of superstition of the ancient religions and practices. It has unfolded the history of early man from the dawn of history believing in a God of fear in the past till the coming of Christ who taught of a God who loved mankind.

The reign of illiteracy comes to an end with a people when the Bible comes into their history.

Before we advanced to the point where the government furnished us with schools and colleges, it was neccessary for the churches to do so.

Harvard, Columbia, Brown and the like were all started by the church. These universities became the pattern for our state universities.

Look to those countries where the Bible was prohibited. Spain and Mexico. The number of illiterates is appalling.

"In the greatest of democracies this book has set the background for drawing up all our democratic documents. From it we have taken our ideas of the rights and privileges of citizens in a democratic order.

"Our ancestors were anxious to order their lives in accord with Christian democratic principles. They stood for liberty in thought and action. And for political responsibility for the welfare of their fellowmen, taking care of the young and the old, the weak and the sick, in other words, being their brother's keeper. Through the teaching of this book we have encouraged tolerance towards our fellows, acceptance of responsibility for our fellows, and the handling of the states affairs honestly. This book made them sensitive to community needs.

SHIP SINKING DELAYS SAILING OF 2 BOYS

Two Nevada City young men, Robert Schiffner and Franklin Tuttle, were much disappointed Wednesday when they learned the ship they were to sail on for the Hawaiian Islands had been sunk by an explosion in the Tasman Sea. The steamship Niagara was in the Canadian-Australian service plying from Australian, New Zealand via Honolulu to Canada. The boys secured their tickets last Saturday and expected to sail early in July.

N. C. ON RED CROSS

do destruction is not broken, in a few years or even months Europe will be nothing but a mass of ruins.

"The American Red Cross' generous action during the last war has left an undying souvenir in the hearts of all Frenchmen. The memory of Mr. Norman H. Davis, Chairman of the Red Cross, is closely associated with that souvenir. I can find no words to describe the great work and the admirable support given him by the members of the American Red Cross.

"God bless all of you who participate in this great work. We rely on you."

Very sincerely yours,

COUNTY COST OF GOVERNMENT IS ALMOST MILLION

SACRAMENTO, June 20—(UP)—Combined city and county government costs increased approximately 27.61 per cent during the past 11 years, while city and county property values dropped $513,716,120 during the period, State Controller Harry B. Riley reported today.

In his 1939 annual report of financial transactions of cities and the counties, Riley reported county government cost 48.224 per cent more in 1939 than 1928, while the city government cost 5 per cent more.

The cost of county government jumped from $243,822,321 in 1928 to $361,397,871 in 1939, an increase of $177,575,550. City government rose from $222,147,403 to $233,-257,284 an increase of $11,109,881.

Although the bonded indebtedness of counties decreased $21,022,-332 during the period, the total indebtedness of counties, cities and the state had a net increase of $210,969,-583 during the 11 years.

The combined bonded debt of cities soared from $347,413,378 to $508,914,293 an increase of $161,-500,915. The state's bonded debt increased $70,491,000, from $114,-374,500 in 1928 to $184,865,500 last year. Indebtedness of the counties, excluding San Francisco which was tabulated with cities, totalled $273,-508,487 last year, compared with $294,530,819 in 1928.

In Nevada county the cost of government in 1939 was $979,480. The bonded debt was $513,328, and the assessed property valuation $16,994,-615.

The cost of government for the city of Nevada City was $55,005. The city's bonded indebtedness was $24,700, and the assessed property valuation was $996,525.

ALL 1927 DRIVER LICENSES ARE REVOKED JULY 1

All good until revoked licenses issued in 1937 have been revoked as of July 1, according to Capt. J. E. Blake, manager of the Nevada County office of the State Department of Motor Vehicles, who advises holders of these licenses to renew them at once in order to avoid a last minute rush.

To date less than 30 per cent of these licenses have been renewed, and this means, he says, that there will be inevitable delays for those who do not apply now.

"Especially is this true," Capt. Blake said, "when you consider that more than one million 1928 and 1929 licenses also will be cancelled within a short time."

Holders of 1927, 1928 and 1929 licenses living in and around Nevada county may secure renewals now by applying at C. H. P. office, Hills Flat, Grass Valley.

"As these licensees have not been examined for at least nine years they will be required to take a vision, written and a driving test," he concluded.

THREE STICKS MEASURE FOREST FUEL MOISTURE

Three wooden sticks, each one half inch square by 18 inches long dowled together and weighing 100 grams oven dried weight, comprise one of the most important cogs in the forest fire protective machine, according to Tahoe forest officers. It is called the fuel moisture stick. Knowing the exact weight when over dried the exact amount of moisture it contains can be determined at any time by weighing and substracting the oven dried weight. Forest officers have worked out a percentage of scale of moisture content. The fuel moisture stick is allowed to lay in the ground along with other ground cover and its moisture content at any time, therefore, indexes the moisture content of the general ground cover and from the percentage of moisture content, forest officers may foretell the rapidity of spread of a fire in the event one is started. Relative humidity and wind conditions, of course, are vitally affecting factors.

"The earthquake," said the explorer, "was quite severe. Dishes flew all over the place."

"That reminds me," exclaimed one of his listeners. "I've again forgotten to mail my wife's letter."

SOME EMPLOYERS TO PAY LESS TAX

SACRAMENTO, June 20—(UP)—The 50,000 California employers subject to unemployment insurance taxes will receive statements of their accounts with the state department of employment by June 30, the department announced today.

The statements show the employers' standing with the department and will furnish the basis on which certain employers are granted "preferred" status and lower taxes next year. Detailed information is given on the amount of money charged against contributions through payment of insurance to former employes.

The employers have 30 days after receipt of the statements to protest any of the charges. Department officials say that few protests are being received from 10,000 employers who have already received their statements.

The period Jan. 1, 1938 to July 1, 1939 is covered in the statements. A supplementary accounting bringing the records up to Jan. 1, 1940 will be made in September.

ABOUT BEER AND ALE

AN OPEN FORUM OF QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: WHY IS BEER CALLED THE BEVERAGE OF MODERATION?
ANSWER: Because beer's alcoholic content is low. Temperate, moderate nations of the world...and their people...prefer beer.

QUESTION: DO BEER AND ALE REALLY AID THE FARMERS?
ANSWER: Since re-legalization the brewing industry has bought 25,000,000,000 pounds of farm products. That has helped farmers... particularly during the depression years.

QUESTION: JUST WHAT ARE BEER AND ALE MADE OF?
ANSWER: Beer is made by a natural fermentation process... from malted barley and other grains, hops, yeast, water. Nature makes beer. The brewer makes it good beer (and ale).

QUESTION: HOW MUCH DO BEER TAXES CONTRIBUTE TO THE COST OF GOVERNMENT?
ANSWER: Beer contributes $1,000,000 a day...$400,000,000 a year...to help pay the costs of government...local, state and federal. Everybody benefits from this contribution.

QUESTION: DO BEER AND ALE MAKE JOBS FOR WORKERS?
ANSWER: Beer and ale have already made a million jobs. This employment is wide-spread ... all over the country. More than 100 other industries benefit from beer and ale.

QUESTION: HOW IS THE BREWING INDUSTRY COOPERATING WITH LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS?
ANSWER: The Brewing Industry is actively on the side of law and order. A "self-regulation" plan to eliminate retail abuses has already been put into effect in a number of states in cooperation with law enforcement authorities. This plan is being extended. We would like to tell you about it. Write for an interesting free booklet. Address: United Brewers Industrial Foundation, 19 East 40th Street, New York, N.Y.

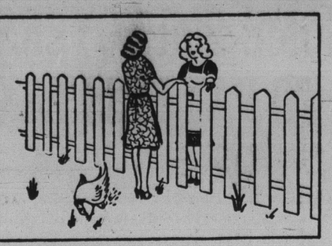
THIS BUSINESS OF Living

BY SUSAN THAYER



Supper Is Still Important

The click, click of the lawn mower sounds through the still spring afternoon and the fragrance of fresh cut grass makes the air sweet. There are shadows on the new cut lawn, sweet summer shadows and it's so warm that Johnnie stops to wipe his forehead with the back of a brown arm.

I have promised him strawberry shortcake for supper if he'll cut the grass this afternoon and I sit on the le porch stemming the red, heart-shaped berries. But in my neighbor's house across the lawn the radio is going. I try to close my ears and still my mind. I will think only of the sunshine, the fragrance of new mown grass, the shortcake I am going to give m hungry family.

But even if I close my ears to the radio the dread headlines of the morning paper race through my mind. And suddenly I want to chuck the half stemmed berries into the garbage pail, pull my apron over my face and cry.

What does it matter whether the supper I get for my family is good or not? A million families half a world away will be hungry tonight!

What does it matter if the grass is cut or allowed to go to untidy seed? Utter destruction is wasting the sweet green lawns in other lands and why should I know the satsfaction of sitting on my own little porch on a sunny afternoon watching my child when women by the tens of thousands will never see their homes again?

Then there is quiet in my yard as the lawn mower stops for moment. And Johnnie, turning a grinning freckled face, waves to me from across the pansy bed. Such a flood of love pours into my heart that there is now no room for fear! My fingers reach for the berries again.

For that strawberry shortcake is important! I see it now. It's a part of the pattern of security and comfort and "every-dayish-ness" that I, as a woman, am privileged, to build against this terror that stalks the world. And I knew now that by every deed and word and gesture possible I must protect my children against the hysteria that is rising even here so that they may grow to manhood and womanhood as strong and fearless and hopeful as if there were no war at all.

So supper tonight is important. And it will be important tomorrow night and the next night and the next. For there is comfort in food and a sense of blessed security as the family takes their places at the carefully set table and mother carries in that longed for shortcake.

SKIERS STILL AT IT NEAR SUMMIT

A few died-in-the-wool skiers are still finding good going on the top of Mt. Lincoln, about two miles south of Donner Summit on Highway 40, according to John R. Hodgson, Tahoe national forest ranger at Cisco. Hodgson states that it is necessary for the skiiers to walk from Bandersord's Resort but a few of the more enthusiastic skiiers are still doing this on week ends.

Wife (reading from an insurance pamphlet)—"A large percentage of the accidents occur in the kitchen."
